Opinions Upon the Boulevard.

Citizens Express Their Views Upon a Suggestion to Temporarily Divert the Course of the Boulevard.

The Plain Dealer has received the following letters upon the boulevard subject:

DR. A. J. COOK.

Editor Plain Dealer—Sir: In reply to your inquiries regarding the boulevard, permit me to say that I do not think there is a demand from my section of the city for an immediate route to the park system free from street car tracks. I think, however, that a practical boulevard can be secured by transferring the control of Euclid avenue, between Erie street and Case avenue, to the park board and diverting the route of the boulevard at the corner of Euclid and Case avenues to reach East Prospect street. This would not, in my opinion, jeopardize the ultimate conversion of the entire length of Euclid avenue into a boulevard.

I think sanitary matters, improved sewerage, better pavements and removal of garbage are matters of earlier importance and should be looked after thoroughly first. Respectfully,

A. J. COOK.

MR. W. D. RANDALL.

Editor Plain Dealer—Sir: In reply to yours regarding Euclid boulevard, will say,

1. I do think that some of the people of this city do desire an immediate route to the park system free from street car tracks, but not the majority.

2. I do not think that the street car tracks on Euclid avenue can be removed until there is provision made for them elsewhere, or until the franchise expires.

3. I do not think that a street north of Euclid avenue, opened for street cars, could be accomplished for some time, and I am sure that such a move would be attended with a great deal of opposition and litigation. It would be well to ascertain where the assessments would be made for opening such street, if on the abutting and surrounding property. I feel sure that a move of this kind would be contested every rod of the way.

4. I am not in favor of boulevarding Euclid avenue, between Erie and Case, and thon divorting the route south on Case to East Prospect, thence to the park system. Cleveland is now 100 years old. Euclid avenue is the pride of the city, and to patch it up and make it part boulevard and part avenue, would not, in my estimation, add to its beauty in the least. Let us either continue with our Euclid avenue or let us have a Euclid boulevard the entire length, from Brownell to the park system.

5. I do not think a natural route could be secured without delay or great expense and opposition, and if such route as you mention could be secured I feel sure that it would delay and jeopardize the ultimate conversion of the entire length of Euclid avenue into a boulevard for a long time to come.

W. D. RANDALL.

MR. H. E. HAYES.

Editor Plain Dealer—Sir: Replying to your circular letter addressed to me, would say that a proposition to give the street railway companies a fifty-year franchise to reach East Prospect street, and diverting the route of the boulevard at the corner of Euclid and Case avenues, jeopardize the ultimate conversion of the entire length of Euclid avenue into a boulevard, is scarcely calculated for a boulevard to connect our park system. Euclid avenue has a reputation all over the world as being the finest street in the world, but unless some steps are taken to preserve it the result will be a business street, same as Fifth avenue, New York. To estimate the value of street railway franchises it might be well to advertise for bids on the extension of streets north and south of Euclid avenue and the operation of a street car system thereon. The Euclid avenue car line is certainly now overtaxed, as the foot rail is much more available than a seat. Very truly yours,

H. E. HAYES.

MR. JACOB STEINFELD.

Editor Plain Dealer—Sir: In reply to your questions of the 15th, I beg to state that I do not think there is a desire on the part of a majority of our citizens for an immediate route to the park system free from the encumbrances of street car tracks. The opening of a street north or south of Euclid avenue would be a very expensive undertaking and could not be accomplished for a number of years. The diversion of the route into East Prospect street would also be an expensive undertaking and the amount of money it would cost could better be used to make other park improvements that would not require present improved property down town to be burdened and appropriated at enormous cost to taxpayers.

I would suggest an overhead electric line on the sidewalk next to the curb on each side of the street on Euclid avenue to be owned by the city and conducted under the same management as our waterworks. Sell ten tickets for 25 cents and give our citizens the benefit of low fare to visit the parks through Euclid avenue and let those that wish to ride in other conveyances. Have the street unobstructed by cars and if there is any money in street railway franchises let the city make it to reduce taxes and make other necessary city improvements. From now on our city should lay all tracks on new streets and charge for the use of them until the city owns and controls all surface and elevated street and electric railways in Cleveland.

JACOB STEINFELD.

MR. THOMAS H. WHITE.

Editor Plain Dealer—Sir: The boulevard question, I think, should be considered from the point that greatly increased travel may be expected in the near future from the territory east of Fairmount street to the central portion of the city. I certainly think that there is a general desire on the part of the people for a street, which will be free from cars and heavily loaded teams, from the central or business portion of the city to the parks.

The cars cannot be removed until some provision is made to run them elsewhere; and unless a fair arrangement can be made with the street car companies, which will enable the city to obtain a percentage of their gross receipts in exchange for valuable franchises which they enjoy, I should advise waiting until their franchises expire.

I think that another street should be opened up parallel to Euclid and that the most advantageous place for same is between Euclid and East Prospect, for the reason that it would be less expensive to put through, and that a new street north of Euclid would be very expensive and would also be bitterly opposed by a large number of residents on the streets that it would cross.

I think it would be an imposition and an outrage upon the residents of Euclid avenue, who have maintained for years the beauty of this street, without any expense, until the city has become known for this beautiful avenue the world over, to boulevard a parallel street like East Prospect and throw forever all the street car traffic and heavy teaming on to Euclid avenue. If East Prospect street were once boulevarded it would never be given up and Euclid avenue, now the pride of our city, would become a street like Sixth avenue in New York, and present values of property would become greatly depreciated.

Euclid avenue is the natural road to the park system on the East Side and is in itself a park, which, if it becomes a boulevard, its residents will take delight in continuing to improve their abutting property without any expense to the city.

The yearly increasing number of bicycle riders of both sexes must also be taken into consideration, especially those who work in the central portion of the city and depend upon their wheels to take them daily to and from their work. It will not be very long before they will demand a way free from the street cars and heavy traffic, and no route could be selected which would be better or more logical for bicycle riding, walking or driving than Euclid avenue, with its broad street, fine shade trees and elegant lawns, and any other course would be very unwise from a practical standpoint.

NOT WANTED.

Firemen Who Have Resigned Not Welcomed Back by the Chief—Barney Te Kempel's Application.

Several men who were given permission to resign from the fire department while charges were hanging over their heads are said to be maneuvering to be taken back as cadets. Chief Dickinson absolutely refused Thursday either to approve or disapprove by his signature the application of such a one.

Barney Te Kempel of No. 434 Waverly avenue was the candidate's name. He formerly belonged to No. 16's house and had charges preferred against him for not paying sufficient attention to his duties. While these were pending the fire director allowed the man to resign to obviate the shame of actual dismissal. Te Kempel soon tired of the change and recently asked to be made a cadet again. Dr. Travis conducted a medical examination and found the applicant in sound health. He took the papers to the chief.

"What are you bringing that to me for?" said Chief Dickinson, after a hasty glance over the document. "You never brought such papers to me before. Director Hechler gets them as soon as you are through. But here's a difficulty. Rule 5 says that 'previous dismissal from the police or fire departments shall be cause for rejection.' This man was not exactly discharged but he had charges pending against him. I'm not going to assume the responsibility of a say so when you have not come to me at any other time."

"Now, you know I could not refuse to examine this man," pleaded Dr. Travis. "He comes just like any other applicant and cannot be rejected before the medical examination is held."

"Take it in to Director Hechler," broke in the chief. "I'm not going to begin signing these papers now, when you are in a quandary, inasmuch as I have not been called upon in the past. Anyhow, we must have the right kind of men in the department."

Dr. Travis, department physician, thereupon hunted up the director's office. Chief Dickinson said Te Kempel at the time of his resignation boasted he had a better job than that of a fireman. He meant his old trade.

"I believe the chief is right," said Director Hechler. "What he wants is to keep up the dignity of the department. But we cannot deny this man an opportunity for examination. This doesn't necessarily mean that he must be reappointed. He may be rejected later by the director, because we must have firemen who are reliable. Te Kempel's medical examination stands, but Chief Dickinson's position is all right."

Director Hechler appointed two new cadets. One is James S. Richardson of the life saving station, and the other Henry Kunze of No. 10 Le Roy place.

UNDER THE HAMMER.

A Brick Block Appropriated by the City at a Sost of $6,000 Sold for $77.

A brick block at the corner of Euclid and East End avenues, which the city appropriated because it stood four feet over the street line, was sold Thursday at auction for $77. It was the second attempt made by the city to dispose of the building for which it had paid the sum of $6,000 in damages.

The purchaser was W. J. Kenaga of No. 193 Merwin street. Quite a crowd gathered around the spot and there were half a dozen bidders. A couplo of policemen kept order. The bidding was low. It is not altogether certain that the council will confirm the sale. Last time W. J. Gawne bid highest at $50, but was not taken up on the offer.

"Owing to the poor bids the first time people thought they could get the block dirt cheap," said Secretary Roberts. "It was ridiculous to see them start at 25 cents and half a dollar. I auctioneered for full twenty minutes. The offers went up slowly by 10 and 20 cents or so. At $66 one man dropped out and another at $70. Finally came the successful bid of $77. I asked for a penny more, but could not get it."

The block will be torn down by the purchaser. It is the intention of W. H. Price and C. H. Stewart, who are the former owners, to erect a handsome structure in its stead. Secretary Roberts claims to have been informed to this effect after the sale.

GOLD BRICK SWINDLER ROBBED.

"Rebel George" Held Up for Fifteen Hundred Which He Quickly Recovers.

SEATTLE, Wa., June 3.—The king of gold brick swindlers, Harvey Knowlton, better known as "Rebel George," made famous in his line from the Atlantic to the Pacific, was held up last night and robbed of $1,500 in cash.

Anthony Mellon, his partner in crime, stood behind a revolver and made Knowlton stand and deliver. To Mellon the enjoyment of possession was of short duration for Knowlton faced what seemed certain death, overpowered the robber and dispossessed him of the money.

It was done only after a bloody fight, during which three shots were fired. None of them took effect. "Rebel George" secured possession of the weapon, beat the robber into insensibility, hammering Mellon over the head until he was covered with blood. The robbery occurred in the Albemarle lodging house on Seneca street, where Knowlton and Mellon occupied the same room.

Knowlton is remembered in the northwest in connection with the sale several years ago of a spurious gold brick for $5,000 to Banker Wooding in this state. He fled to Tennessee. He was arrested, brought back and convicted in this city and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Nearly a year ago he completed his term and was liberated. Mellon's right name is Anthony Kelly. He formerly lived in Denver and is an ex-convict, having done seven years in the Canon City penitentiary for larceny.

DURRANT BREAKING DOWN.

A Special Messenger to Rush Across the Continent to Present the Murderer's Case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Theodore Durrant seems to be breaking down. A member of the death watch was seated at his side last night looking down upon him as he tossed and tumbled in his restless sleep. The warden was at once notified of the change in Durrant's demeanor. Orders were issued to increase the death watch and maintain the vigil with greater care than before.

Durrant's father carried to the condemned man yesterday the news that the United States district court had denied the writ of habeas corpus and that the next fight for life must be made at Washington before the supreme court. A special messenger will hurry across the continent, but he cannot reach Washington before next Wednesday. He will have the greatest good fortune if he receives an audience from the supreme court that day. It is probable that a hearing will not be granted before Thursday of next week and on the following day Durrant must die if the national tribunal does not exert its authority.

DIED IN THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Samuel L. Post Seized With a Sudden Attack of Heart Failure.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Samuel L. Post died on the floor of the stock exchange today. He was seized with heart disease and succumbed in a few minutes. He had been a member of the exchange since 1863. His office was at No. 40 Broad street. Business was immediately suspended and was not resumed until noon.

Extreme Brutality Alleged.

Action for divorce was commenced in common pleas court yesterday by Emilie Sachowski against her husband, Carl. They were married Aug. 15, 1890. She accuses him of failure to support and extreme brutality.

Found to be Unfaithful.

A decree of divorce was allowed by Judge Neff yesterday to Charlotte W. Meyers against Gustave F. Meyers. The ground for the decree was infidelity. Mrs. Meyers was also given custody of their minor children.

Capt. Lohrer Better.

Capt. Lohrer of the detective force was able to leave Huron Street hospital yesterday, where he has been for several weeks suffering from an acute attack of pneumonia. He was taken to his home, where it is hoped he will soon recover his usual health.

"GREETED WITH ENTHUSIASM."

Chaplain's Remarkable Prayer in the Illinois House.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 3.—The chaplain of the house, the Rev. David G. Bradford, opened proceedings today in the state legislature with the following fervent prayer:

"Almighty God, we seek Thy presence and blessing at the beginning of another day's diligent labor. Help us, we pray Thee, in the discharge of this day's duties. Help these men to remember the poor tax burdened people of this great state. Contract, we pray Thee, the capacious maw of the penal reformatory, charitable and educational institutions of Illinois. May they learn to be content with less money, and may we who refuse to worship a golden calf, refuse also to worship gold in any other form. Forbid, that any foreigner visiting our shores shall ever again have occasion to write:

" 'Money, money, is all their cry;
Money's the total sum.
Give us money or else we die,
Oh, let the money come.'

And we will ever give Thee endless praise. Amen."

This prayer was greeted with enthusiasm.

SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Result of a Kentucky Feud—More Trouble Expected to Ensue.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 3.—A special to the Sentinel from Huntsville, Tenn., says:

Squire William Claxton of Campbell county was shot from ambush and killed by some unknown party yesterday afternoon at the foot of Braden mountain. Constable Pollmore, who was with Claxton, is reported to have taken to his heels. The affair, it is understood, grew out of a feud between Claxton and the Hughetts of that neighborhood. Claxton shot Elsewick Hughett from ambush in the same neighborhood about two months ago. Claxton was indicted and under bond for murder of William Murphy, by lynching, and was also under bond for killing Hughett. The Claxtons, it is thought, will accuse Henry Hughett of the killing of William Claxton, and more trouble is expected.
