ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination for Attorney General, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

R. J. BRECKINRIDGE.

The Morning Herald is authorized to announce M A Cassidy as a candidate for the nomination for Superintendent of Public Schools, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

MAJOR JOHNSTON'S SCHEME.

"Chairman Johnston has issued a call for a meeting of the Democratic State Executive Committee, at Lexington, Tuesday, June 13, notwithstanding the request of three members of the committee for a meeting at Louisville, Saturday, June 10. Mr. Johnston also issued a statement in which he endeavored to explain his conduct in engaging Macauley's theater for the state convention after Committeeman Vreeland had engaged Music Hall, he having been delegated by resolution of the committee to make all local arrangements for the convention and to raise the funds to defray the expenses. He states that he did this because he had learned that Mr. Vreeland had had badges and tickets of admission to the hall printed and 'threatened to control admission and interfere with other details that I am responsible for as chairman,' etc., but fortunately for Mr. Vreeland, Chairman Johnston incorporates in his communication two letters from him which flatly contradict the chairman's statement.

"In his first letter of May 16, Mr. Vreeland says: 'It is my intention to turn these badges and tickets over to the several state executive committeemen for distribution among their respective districts for delegates and for others entitled to them.'

"In a letter of May 25 Mr. Vreeland says. 'As for the distribution of the badges and tickets, I intend to turn them all over to the State Executive Committee (or to the members thereof), which body ordered me to make the convention arrangements. It is altogether immaterial to me what means they use to distribute them, whether they turn them all over to you as chairman, or whether they decide to do it themselves individually, and my only desire is to carry out what I conceive to be the duties imposed upon me be the resolution adopted by the committee.'

"These letters not only contradict Chairman Johnston's statement that Mr. Vreeland 'threatened to control admission,' but show that he proposed, as has long been customary, to turn the tickets over to the Executive Committee, and through them insure a fair and equitable distribution of the tickets among delegates and visitors to the convention from every section of the state.

"From the chairman's own statement it would appear that it is he and not Mr. Vreeland who threatens to control admission to the convention. We have had a number of would-be autocrats in the place of chairman of the state committee in the past, but never before one who assumed the exclusive privilege of distributing tickets of admission to the convention hall.

"It is quite safe to predict that the executive committee will not tolerate this and will sustain Mr. Vreeland in carrying out the directions of the resolution adopted at the meeting in March."—Owensboro Messenger.

No man in America stands higher as a pure, incorruptible and courageous gentleman than Major P P Johnson. As president of the National Trotting Horse Association, as president of the Trotting Horse Association here, as presiding judge in numerous races and chairman of the Board of Appeals, he has won a national reputation as a man of eminent fairness, of the strictest sense of justice, but also of inflexible courage and incorruptible integrity. He is chairman of both the Central and the Executive Democratic Committees, and as such has prescribed duties to perform; in the performance of which a difference of opinion and of claim has arisen between him and Mr. Vreeland, who is understood to be the friend and supporter of Mr. Goebel, and who is a gentleman of excellent character, and the Owensboro Messenger at once attacks Major Johnston, which attack we publish. Of course, Mr. Urey Wodson does not seriously believe Major Johnston capable of intentional wrong-doing, and if he were to so charge no man in the state who knows Maj. Johnston would believe the charge.

It is another evidence of the demoralized situation and condition in Kentucky. Any man who is now willing to undertake any party service must do so at the risk of being denounced as corrupt, and the people of the state accept the denunciation without indignation. It has become so generally understood that committees are appointed to cheat and defraud, that being a member of a committee is considered presumptive evidence of willingness to commit wrong and the community smiles and says: "Oh, well, it is only politics, and everything is fair in politics, and while he is unscrupulous in politics and will steal a ballot-box, or return a fraudulent count, or cheat in a primary, he is an honest fellow in private business."

There is not a man of any politics who does not know that Major Johnston will act with perfect fairness in the performance of his duty, whatever that duty may be; and any attempt to reduce him to the ranks, to take away from him any of the usual prerogatives, privileges or duties of his position will stain those who attempt it, even if they should be successful. But we think there is a still higher view in which to regard this matter. These gentlemen are eminent in their party; they hold conspicuous positions; they represent not only their party, but Kentucky. The leaders of both parties represent to all outsiders Kentucky; they will be accepted as typical Kentuckians; and if they be capable of such action it disgraces Kentucky. We do not believe that these gentlemen are capable of such action: that it is the unjust suspicion which grows out of the unfortunate conception that in politics all is fair.

A SPECIMEN.

(Atlanta Journal.)

Those who apologize for trusts on the ground that they reduce the price of articles, fly in the face of facts which are not presented in the daily operations of these combinations to prevent competition.

The tin plate trust is a good instance. Before the tin plate mills in this country were consolidated tin plate sold at $2.60 a box. It is said that this gave the manufacturers a fair profit. But they were not satisfied. They combined for the purpose of raising the price of their product, and the very high tariff by which they are protected enabled them to raise it with a vengeance.

Having crushed competition at home and with the tariff wall between them and competition from abroad, they were enabled to shoot the price of tin plate from $2.60 to $4 a box.

Manufacturers of tin ware on a large scale have to carry a great variety of sizes of tin plate, as well as a large quantity. Consequently, they are compelled to do much figuring and revising and to live, as it were, from hand to mouth, for they are as completely at the mercy of the trust as the consumers of the wares they make.

The probable reason of the enormous advance in the price of tin plate was made to pay the heavy dividends that were promised on the heavy over-capitalization of the trust and thus enable the holders of common stock who are "on the inside" to work it off at big prices on unsuspecting purchasers. When this has been done the necessity for large dividends will not be so urgent, and the trust may graciously consent to shave down the price of tin plate to some extent.

GORMAN AND SILVER.

Senator Gorman is confident that free silver will not figure conspicuously in the next Democratic national platform, and that a Democratic national ticket will be nominated on which all factions of the Democratic party can unite. This is evidently intended as a blow at Bryan. It is substantially the position which Mr. Croker has taken. It is the more significant because the Maryland leader supported Bryan in 1896 and has no scruples against supporting free silver again if he thought there were any votes to be gained by making it the paramount Democratic issue in 1900. He is shrewd enough to perceive, however, that this issue will handicap any party that brings it to the front, and as he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President himself, he does not desire to be weighted with such a burden. Bryan may continue to talk about the increasing strength of free silver, but no clear headed Democratic politician is deceived on this point.—Commercial Advertiser.

WATTERSON NOT AN ORACLE.

This is the way the Charleston News and Courier deals with a recent Memorial Day utterance: "We are told in the Second Epistle General of Peter that in old time 'holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost,' and we believe it; but we are not quite prepared to believe that Henry Watterson, the brilliant editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, ever has been or every will be chosen as the special medium through which any divine revelation will be made. In its fool way the New York Sun says of the Memorial Day observances: 'Henry Watterson, speaking in a spirit of exaltation, which must have moved his hearers profoundly, declared that the extension of American influence to the far-off Philippines was God's plan.' We would be willing to accept Mr. Watterson as a representative of the distillery interests of his great state, as a 'paste-board' expert, or as the most brilliant literary light in the field of journalism today, but even in his profoundest periods of 'exaltation' we could not accept him as the oracle of the divine purposes."

The Honorable Grover Cleveland wants it understood that he did not object to being put off that farm, but when they took his bait he felt like they were trying to rub it in.

General Sternberg is making a beautiful attempt to explain the camp mortality during the late war without the use of the word "incompetency," but it is consuming his entire time.

The House of Commons has made a parliamentary decision that women can be made Aldermen, but can they?

So far the Peace Conference hasn't had a single fight among its members.

DANGER IN SODA

SERIOUS RESULTS SOMETIMES FOLLOW ITS EXCESSIVE USE.

Common soda is all right in its place and indispensable in the kitchen and for cooking and washing purposes, but it was never intended as a medicine, and people who use it as such will some day regret it.

We refer to the common use of soda to relieve heartburn or sour stomach, a habit which thousands of people practice and one which is fraught with danger; moreover the soda only gives temporary relief and in the end the stomach trouble gets worse and worse.

The soda acts as a mechanical irritant to the walls of the stomach and bowels, and cases are on record where it has accumulated in the intestines, causing death by inflammation or peritonitis.

Dr. Harlandson recommends as the safest and surest cure for sour stomach (acid dyspepsia) an excellent preparation sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These tablets are large 20-grain lozenges, very pleasant to the taste and contain the natural acids, peptones and digestive elements essential to good digestion, and when taken after meals they digest the food perfectly and promptly before it has time to ferment, sour and poison the blood and nervous system.

Dr. Wuerth states that he invariably uses Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in all cases of stomach derangements and finds them a certain cure not only for sour stomach, but by promptly digesting the food they create flesh and strengthen the action of the heart and liver. They are not a cathartic, but intended only for stomach diseases and weakness and will be found reliable in all stomach troubles except cancer of the stomach. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents per package.

A little book describing all forms of stomach weakness and their cure mailed free by addressing the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.
